

What's different here and why it matters

Mountain Air is a Blue Ridge mountaintop retreat, unmatched in its physical beauty and replete with mountain charm. Throughout its history, Mountain Air has attracted people from different walks of life, each bringing a range of experiences and strengths to our community. Regardless of our different backgrounds, there is one common value we hold dear – we are a community that chooses to live in harmony. Mountain Air is a special place where...

- Friendships develop and deepen beyond time spent on the mountain.
- The focus is on people, not social or economic status.
- A wide variety of activities are offered, allowing social interactions to reflect an array of interests.
- We care for one another, regardless of age, and aim to thrive during all stages of life.
- Children and grandchildren can grow and thrive in this environment that honors and respects nature, family togetherness, friendship, fun, and diversity of thought.
- Support of the Burnsville community is of importance to us. Local philanthropic giving and generosity are a significant part of our culture.
- We select highly skilled staff, and every member of the team is a vital part of our culture. They too, are valued as family.
